So did the newsmen. They said nothing in print. The unbroken rule of their profession requires them not to divulge sources of information. It were nearly all the men named on this new one, with a remarkable exception. TVA Commissioner David Lilienthal was omitted.

This furnished tip enough to those on the inside that the current headlines, predicting Lilienthal will win his policy struggle with Dr. Morgan, may not pan out.

A better guess would be that Mr. Roosevelt is trying to work out a broader practical policy for each area in which the government will sell power, probably along the lines of the policy outlined in the Bonnessell power, probably along the lines of the policy outlined in the Bonnessell power, probably along the lines of the policy outlined in the Bonnessell power, probably along the lines of the policy outlined in the Bonnessell power, probably along the lines of the policy outlined in the Bonnessell power, probably along the lines of the policy outlined in the Bonnessell power, probably along the lines of the policy outlined in the Bonnessell power, probably along the lines of the policy outlined in the Bonnessell power, probably there is no other control of the policy of the administration but Washington is a gay city and the life of the place gives no outward sign of heartache or alarm for the future. ville bill passed last session in congress. He will go far beyond the Lilienthal-Morgan scrap about TVA pooling and establish something he hopes will stand up in court.

The appointment of Brain Truster Ben Cohen as legal counsel of the new committee indicated that.

METHOD What is behind the whole scrap is simply this: Lilienthal wants to use an administrative machine gun on private power interests. So does Senator Norris. They do not trust any power company anywhere. To them, there are no good ones. They want the government to build transmission lines and put the private companies out of business. Dr. Morgan is not opposed to the machine gun, but would try a blackjack first. He suggests the government make an agreement including the plug hat which places and plackjack first. He suggests the government make an agreement including the plug hat which places and plackjack first. try a blackjack first. He suggests the government make an agreement with the private companies to split the power distribution business, and kill them off later, if necessary.

While these principals are getting the headlines, the McNinch-Manley While these principals are getting the headlines, the McNinch-Manley school of new orderers seem to be quietly running the show. They do not like machine guns or blackJacks. Chloroform is their dish. They would make their policy painless—and legal. They would break up the TVA administrative dynasty and put the power problems under themselves as chairman and No. 2 man on the Federal Power Commission. They seem likely to win.

But, no matter who wins, there will never be a better example of the subordinate policy-workings within the new order. The only watch-false. Possibly many an honest heart of lambasting the title should be pronounced according that a man in overeing clothes is necessarily any less first selection for a title was "To-morrow Is Another Day" and that it was not until she chanced to run across the words in Dowson's poem guilty of the actual flogging or lynch-ing that a man in overalls. Is This the Result Of Birth Control?

Reports indicate that the birth rate in the United States for 1936 was the lowest ever recorded. This, combined with a slightly higher death rate than for some years past, left the natural increase in population at the lowest rate ever known in this country. Only about 5 per 1,000, in fact.

Now I don't know whether the debirth rate can be attributed to birth control or economic condi-tions. Probably a combination of both. It is, however, an interesting little item, particularly in view of the recent public honors accorded to Margaret Sanger, famous advocate of legal dissemination of birth control information.

It is really a very short time since Mrs. Sanger was practically ostracized because of her views. Now she is on the high road toward becoming a public heroine.

A more important secret, of course, is that the book is art for art's sake and that people are sick of art for a purpose. Particularly about the south. ### Study by Commissioner Longino Revealed Increases to "Big Shots."

Salaries of Fulton county employes for 1937 yesterday were set by the county commissioners on the December schedule after Commissioner George THREE HIT BY TRUCK F. Longino declared a study of the proposed budget revealed pay increases totaling $21,500 for "big shots" were provided in the tentative budget. Action of the commissioners rescind-

Commissioner Longino said this was allowed to stand as George has already begun work in his new position and has resigned his old, and Miss Childers has already been ordered to report to work Monday. George will receive $200 per month and Miss Childers $150, thus increasing the solicitor's budget $90 per month; $260 remained to be divided, since Tiller drew that sum.

that sum.

Set up in the budget, but now withdrawn by action of the board yesterday were the following increases:

County Warden A. A. Clarke from $6,000 to $7,500 per year, an increase of $75 per month.

County Police Chief George Mathieson, from $5,100 to $5,700 per year, an increase of $50 per month.

Frank R. Fling, from $4,800 to $5,000 per year, an increase of $16.50 per month.

Mose Holland, purchasing agent, from $4,800 to $5,000 per year, an increase of $16.50 per month.

The remainder of the proposed pay increases were distributed through the various departments and ranged from $5 to $25 per month. $1,000,000 Bond Issue.

$1,000,000 Bond Issue.

A $1,000,000 bond issue to provide money with which to pave the school and mail roads of the county was favored by Commissioner Longino and he suggested the board have the citizens vote on such an issue.

Longino declared the county did not have the money with which to fix the roads at present and that schools were being closed down in bad weather because school buses could not get through the mud.

Other commissioners favored sub-

Other commissioners favored submitting the question to the people.

"The public works department is top-heavy, we have the men and the equipment to do paving and other improving but we do not have the money with which to purchase the necessary materials," Longino declared.

The commission voted $100,000 be set aside in the budget for the construction of a fireproof barracks at the Bellwood prison camp. Segregation in this new barracks will be provided, Longino, chairman of public works, declared.

Road Repairs.

In discussing the roads, Longino said the public works department would fix all farm-to-market roads and school roads this summer and in the imeantime would do their best to make the muddy roads passable during the winter season.

"If the bond issue is put to a vote and is passed, it is my suggestion one-fourth of the money be spent of paving in each section of the county, north, east, south and west," Longino continued. "In the meantime, I think we should continue to give preference to those sections which provide us with materials to do the paving."

Chairman Ragsdale declared that Fulton county paid its employes from 25 to 50 per cent higher salaries than other Georgia counties and in view of that fact and because the budget is

Dr. Charles R. Adams pointed out that if raises are given they should be uniform as that was the method used in cutting employes during the depression. Until salaries could be raised uniformily, no increases should be granted, he said.

Ed Almand said the salaries in the lower brackets should be brought up to a sufficient, living ware. Ragsdale agreed with him, saying "We should help the low brackets, but raises should be uniform in the high brackets."

Longino called for a vote and the pay increase resolutions were unanimously rescinded. Commissioner Edwin Johnson was not present. He is ill at Emory University hospital.

This action cancelled all raises granted in the office of the solicitor of the criminal court.

Joe Perry, of the county finger-print department, was promoted to sergeant at a $30 pay increase. The commissioners held this was not a pay increase but only a promotion.

Under the county plan of purchasing automobiles it was announced 87 new cars were needed. The cost of these would be $50,000. Longing asid. The commission voted to withhold plans for purchasing cars at this time and ordered old cars reconditioned.

The simple drama of the picture thus presented is evident from a comparison of conditions four years ago. Then, because of closing banks and paralysis of the national business structure, the White House was a bee hive of activity. On the evening of his inauguration on March 4, 1933, the President, surrounded by members of his newly-formed cabinet, officials of the Federal Reserve Board, bankers and industrialists generally, toiled late shaping a hasty program to stem the tide of national uncertainty.

Congress had been called into extraordinary session to meet the exigencies of the time and for days the country hung on every official move and utterance stirred with new hope of seeing a rift emerge in the dark clouds of depression.

BILL PROLONGING RFC SENT TO WHITE HOUSE MINUS AMENDMENTS

Commodity Credit, Electric Agency and Export-Import Bank Retained.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—
Congress passed along to the White House today a bill prolonging the lives of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and three allied agencies.
Shouldering aside Republican and Democratic amendments, the house approved the measure in the identical form in which it passed the senate recently.

The bill, passed without a record vote, would extend RFC lending powers until June 30, 1939. Existing powers of the corporation, which has lent billions to help business and financial institutions in the depression, expire February 1.

Import Bank.

After more than three hours' debate, the Democratic majority quickly defeated an amendment which would have limited RFC loans to individual borrowers to $1,000,000. Other amendments beaten would have permitted loans to hospitals and school districts or refused altogether to extend the corporation's activities beyond February 1.

Echoes of the so-called "Dawes' loan" of $90,000,000 to the Central Republic Trust Company, of Chicago, wege heard when Representative With-row. Progressive, Wisconsin, declared it was "an accepted fact" that $50,-000,000 of the loan would never be

Cecil Travis Is Determined To Get Raise Before He Signs

Because Mr. Dana X. Bible has accepted a "call' from the University of Texas to take the football coaching job there at $15,000 per year, the loud and agonized squawk is going up from the Viewers-With-Alarm.

They think it is perfectly awful that Mr. Dana X. Bible should be receiving such important funds, while the presidents of universities receive less.

As usual they are wrong. Mr. Bible's case is an exception of which there are a few others. And only a few.

The published salaries would reveal that the major football coaches would be receiving salaries which would be about $1,000 to $4,000 more than the college presidents are receiving at the same institutions where the coach is employed. Yet, that is not the true situation.

I do not think teachers are paid enough. And the manner in which politicians have shaken down the teachers during the recent depression while maintaining their own financial standards, was one of the most disgraceful scenes offered on the political stage.

Nevertheless, college presidents receive as much or more than do the football coaches. They never say anything about it while the coach is being held up as a target.

Most college presidents and chancellors receive from the college, without cost to themselves:

- 1. A furnished home.
- 2. Travel allowances.
- Entertainment allowances.
- 4. Often steam heat or fuel for same is furnished. 5. At many institutions an automobile is supplied the president or chancellor.

All these will add up to more than make up the difference as between what the coach is paid and what is paid the college

All this, of course, is perfectly just and proper. The college president should have it. He represents education and if he is head of a state institution he represents education in the state. He should have a position of dignity, respect and adequate financial reward.

But I must come to the rescue of the football coaches. Mr. Dana Bible is one in a thousand who receives $15,000 per year. There are very few Dana Bibles. In fact, I think he is

The customer today wants to see that football in the air. He wants forwards and laterals and he wants them often. Memphis Ace Dominates Y.M.C.A. and A.A.U. Crowns.

By Dillon Graham. WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 .- (AP)-

Sam Atcheson, an ace from Memphis, dominates American handball as com-pletely as Bobby Jones once ruled

For eight years, from 1923 to 1930, For eight years, from 1923 to 1930, Jones won at least one major American championship every season. For seven years, from 1930 through 1936, Atcheson has held one of the two chief American handball titles, either the Y. M. C. A. or the A. A. U. Atcheson scored his "grand slam" in 1933, winning both the Y. M. C. A. and the A. A. U.—without the loss of a single game. The Tennessean is an odds-on favorite to win the current "Y" championship being played here. Altogether he's won 12 national titles.

He was "Y" singles king in 1931-32-33-35-36, A. A. U. singles winner in 1933-34 and "Y" doubles champion in 1930-31 with Sam Johnston, of Memphis, and in 1932-35-36 with Walter Streuli, of Memphis.

Similar meetings are being throughout the southeast. Methods of applying the program were discussed.
"If the cotton crop is controlled we will continue to make progress," Cobb emphasized. "If it is not controlled, we will go back to where we were in 1932."

The 1937 conservation program will differ very little from the 1936 program, when the federal government paid southern farmers $123,000,000 paid southern farmers $123,000,000 for diversifying their lands, Cobb said.

As now arranged, the program will provide for payment of between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000 to southern farmers this year, he declared. The present program calls for a few changes in the livestock and truck farming industries.

My Day ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Thursday.-Like any other housewife after a busy day, I have been taking stock of yesterday's activities. I wrote yesterday's column just before I went out to the parade. Luckily, this parade made the address on General Lee and Mrs. C. J. Sheehan paid tribute to General Jackson.

A radio second.

General Jackson.

A radio program, arranged by Mrs. James R. Thornton, honoring these beloved southern leaders, was given on Tuesday. Mrs. Warren White read a newspaper article from the Associated Press that the deputy third assistant postmaster general, Roy M. North, stated that the Lee-Jackson memorial stamp authorized last May, would be prought out in the other phases of government.

I was proud indeed of the services as they marched by in the rain. Everyone in fit condition, looking smart in spite of the weather. West Point, Annapolis, the Coast Guard school and the regular army, navy and marines. These services and the men who compose them deserve paid for in money.

We pray that it may never be war service, but the world is not safe as yet from this spirit of madness and while the Unit of madness an both in peace and in war, are these men who belong to what are rightly termed the services of the United States. Seven hundred and ten people lunched here and 2,700 came to tea after the parade was over. When everyone had been received at tea I went, with some trepidation, into the east room and the state dining room to make sure there was still some food for late comers. To my joy, there was plenty. We were 16 at dinner and I went over to the inaugural concert where the artists, Miss Kathryn Meisle, Miss Susanne Fisher, Hans Kindler, Richard Bonelli and Richard Crooks, donated their services. Finally, I sat in my room and thought gratefully of the people who had made it possible for everything to go so smoothly during the day.

First of all, the inaugural committee and all those making arrangements at the capitol and for the parade were more than kind. Then, in the White House itself, William Rockwell and his assistants in the Social Bureau, the ushers, the military aides, the chauffeurs, Mrs. Nesbitt, the housekeeper, and all the domestic staff in the kitchen, pantry and the house itself, co-operated and worked together as a team, to make everything move with ease. I went about today thanking everyone I could find.

While I have always admired the spirit with which the work is done in the White House, I don't think it ever came home to me with more force than yesterday. It is the dignity of the house which is at stake

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.

Not long ago I received a letter from the Bermuda islands, written by my good friend, Mr. Eugene Couley. There are so many interesting things in the letter that I shall use most of our space today to give paragraphs from it.

"Here comes a letter," writes Mr. Conley, "from a friend in the middle of the Atlantic, from the tropical paradise they call Bermuda. The Bermuda islands were named in honor of their discoverer, a Spaniard named Bermudez. Spain wouldn't spend the money to start colonies here, so they passed into the possession of Great Britain.

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

There are some people who simply aren't made to stoop over.

Despite the fact that we were supposed to have descended from quadru-peds, there are some people who should never attempt to bend over. Sometimes we think that they may have descended from penguins. They were just never intended to bend in the middle.

stractedly looked at it would have reasured her. He hadn't known!

She began to laugh, shakily. He lowered the sheet and gazed at her with dismay hard bordering on exasperation. Surfeited with feminine emotion, that was plain.

"Di! What is it?"

"I'm all right. Look, dear. Here!"

He stared at the item blankly, then with fixed attention. Now she was perfectly sure. He was seeing this news for the first and only time.

"Holy Christmas!" he made slow ejaculation. "What the hell does this mean?"

"How do I know?" She fumbled for her handkerchief. "Somebody's kicking up a row. Who do you suppose...?"

Only an occasional operation by trade interests disturbed the calm that centered around the ring.

News provided little incentive for taking a trading position. With one crop harvested and another yet to be planted the market hovered in that dull period that always comes between seasons with no one paying much at tention to prices.

Weekly figures were considered favorable with the exception of exports that failed to pick up. Foreign news was about a stand-off with little unusual appearing in cables.

Domestic weather developments were featured by rising waters in the southern rivers, but so far there were no reports of floods in cotton territory. Rising temperatures were redicted from the northwest, a cold spot for the past month.

Worth Street reported a good volume of business this week.

A Washington advice said a southern sensent weather sensent has ponney on staple grown for domestic consumption.

Contract Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

NO TRUMP RESPONSES TO FORCING TWO-BIDS.

Two No Trump—A blanket minimum response denoting a hand which contains less than one honor trick; or, if the hand does have one honor trick, is not suitable to a raise or suitake-out. Regardless of the fact that responder may hold a long and fairly strong suit such as Q J 10 8 7 6 5, he must deny honor tricks by first bidding two no trump, and then may show his suit at his next opportunity.

Three No Trump—A hand containing one and one-half honor tricks but no biddable suit or trump support. The one and one-half honor port. The one and one-half honor tricks may be in one suit (such as A Q x) or divided among two or more suits.

Four No Trump — Shows at least two and one-half honor tricks, and five no trump three honor tricks, including at least one ace. These bids should be avoided as immediate reshould be avoided as immediate responses, since they prevent an exchange of information and shut out asking bids. A four or five no trump bid by the responder carries the same meaning whether bid immediately or subsequently, unless bid as a response to an asking or four no trump bid, and also unless the responder has by a two no trump response previously denied so great an honor trick hold-

Four rounds of diamonds were cashed, on the last of which declarer let go a low spade. West temporarily avoided embarrassment by chucking his club, but now when the king and ace of clubs followed. West found himself in quite a dilemma. He let go one heart, but, correctly analyzing one heart, but, correctly analyzing that another heart discard, blanking his queen, merely would invite a heart lead from the declarer who was marked with the spade king for entry, chose to blank his ace-jack of spades chose to blank his ace-jack of spades instead. But this was just as satisfactory to the declarer, who promptly laid down the spade king. Whether West won this trick or not, he was "hooked." To duck merely would delay the inevitable, since declarer would lead another spade. West therefore took his ace, but then could do no more than cash his heart queen for the fourth trick, since dummy had three good spades.

The court of appeals ruled yester-day that taxes constitute a preferred claim against a bank that is in process of liquidation.

The case was brought by T. E. Tharpe, tax collector of Peach county, against R. E. Gormley, state superintendent of banks, to collect $1,086.70 and interest.

The court of appeals ruled the tax claim was part of the expenses of liquidating the bank and therefore must be paid, but that interest was not collectible.

When the path was cut, Brown insisted that Prince Shorov do his share of transporting the luggage. "You may be the scion of a long line of cab drivers," he declared; "but you're going

"By the way, Tibbs, where's that gun of yours?"

Jane asked. "Immediately, Milady," the valet replied as he began rummaging in his bag; "I never travel without it. One can never tell when one will need it, especially in Africa with all these lions and things."

He finally located the weapon, which he with-drew gingerly and exhibited with considerable pride. "There she is, Milady," he said; "and rather a beauty, too, I fawncy." The weapon he held up to view was a single-shot .22 short pistol

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Brown burst into a loud laugh; but Jane's heart sank. She realized how utterly ineffective were these people, with the exception of Brown, in this land of hidden perils. More than that, each was a positive handicap to her in the inevitable fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(UP)— Representative John E. Rankin, Demo-crat, Mississippi, co-author of the Ten-nessee valley act, and Representative Knute Hill, Democrat, Washington, today organized a house bloc to fight for continued government ownership and operation of existing power proj-ects and against pooling TVA power with private utilities. They predicted a majority of the house would join the fight within a few days, and issued a formal policy statement Power Policy Draft. Power Policy Draft.

The action came as a committee headed by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes sought to draft national power policies for President Rossevelt.

The Rankin-Hill statement said: "We believe the government should old in perpetuity the dams it now owns or has under construction. owns or has under construction, or in contemplation, and should build and own the transmission lines to con-ver the electric energy generated at these dams throughout the distribu-tion radius of each one, and sell it wholesale to cities, towns, co-operative associations and other public agen-cies at the minimum rates necessary to amortize that part of the invest ment charged to power in 40 or 50 years, with the distinct and specific requirement that it be distributed to

La Follette Committee Subpoenas Documents Bearing on Charge.

OF AID BY ARMY, NAVY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 .- (AP)-The senate civil liberties committee issued subpoenas tonight for documents bearing on an assertion that the army and navy co-operated with labor spy service in combating union activities.

The committee, headed by Senator La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, d just heard a representative of the ational Metal Trades Association, National Metal Trades Association, which supplies metal manufacturing plants with labor spies and strike-breakers, testify that the association co-operated with the army and navy intelligence services and the Justice Department to maintain production plants filling government contracts.

L. A. Stringham, an official of the association, was the principal witness. Chairman La Follette contending that Stringham was "not being frank," produced a letter by Stringham to the association's headquarters in Chicago, reporting an effort to obtain a new member for the association. One of its paragraphs said:
"During our conference, I mention-
